

Health in Mind is the free NHS Talking Therapies service for people experiencing emotional stress and symptoms of anxiety or low mood. We're here for all East Sussex residents over 18.

We offer a wide range of support to make seeking help as convenient, quick and straight forward as possible. From courses & online programmes to a wide range of 1 to 1 therapies, we can be your guide to better mental health.

Taking early action to improve your emotional health prevents symptoms worsening and means quicker access to treatment. Our advice is to not wait. Get in touch with us today. Our team are ready to help you make positive changes.

There's no need to see a GP to make a referral. You can self-refer or be supported to self-refer direct through our website.

How do I know if I need help?

At milder levels symptoms can be hard to spot. A referral to our service could make a huge difference:

- If you find it hard to stop worrying.
- If you feel nervous, on edge or more irritable.
- If you've been feeling down or hopeless.
- If you've lost interest or pleasure in doing things.

We also help people with some long-term physical health conditions, as well as those with problems sleeping as both can have a significant impact on how you feel. If you're not sure if you need help, you can take an anonymous quiz on our website to check.

Many people find that just having an initial conversation with one of our team can be extremely helpful. Asking for help can feel like a big decision, but it could be the best decision you make.
